Who we are
The Frist Art Museum (FAM) opened in April 2001 and is accredited by the American Alliance of Museums. Originally conceived through a community visioning process to shape the city’s future, FAM is a leading institution in Nashville’s cultural fabric and has gained national and international recognition for its exhibitions and programs. Located downtown in a beautifully restored 1934 art deco building, FAM serves a metropolitan area with more than 1.83 million people. Museum operations and programming are managed by a staff of approximately 80, led by executive director and CEO Susan H. Edwards, PhD, and guided by a 24-member board.

Mission
The mission of the Frist Art Museum is to present and originate high-quality exhibitions with related educational programs and community outreach activities.

Vision
The vision of the Frist Art Museum is to inspire people through art to look at their world in new ways.
The year 2020 presented unexpected challenges for the Frist Art Museum and the world at large. FAM closed to the public on March 16, 2020, and remained closed for 117 days before reopening on July 1 with limited capacity and heightened health and safety measures. FAM’s expert staff successfully converted programs to online platforms, providing at-home education and art-making activities. Access to the arts is especially important in times such as these as we seek out inspiration and outlets for creative expression—it helps us process the world around us and find solace and strength in the face of uncertainty.

FAM offers learning opportunities designed to educate, delight, and inform audiences with a diverse range of interests. Educational programs include gallery talks, lectures, live music, tours, and studio workshops and demonstrations. FAM places a high priority on accessibility, fostering a welcoming environment so that all guests can experience the arts regardless of prior knowledge, socioeconomic status, or ability.

*Please note the difference between participants and unique views: When conducting online programs, it is possible that multiple people can be participating from one device, so FAM records the number of connected devices as “unique views.” The actual number of participants for these virtual programs is likely higher.

To learn more about our programs, visit FristArtMuseum.org/events.
FristKids.org features videos of art projects that can be done at home. The videos are divided into four categories: Explore, Create, Connect, and Discover.

FAM’s Storytimes are trilingual readings shared in English and Spanish and interpreted in American Sign Language.

Broadcasted on FAM social media platforms, Slow Look videos enable viewers to enjoy close looking and contemplation of featured works from FAM’s exhibitions.
Community Partners

Since 2000, the Frist Art Museum has partnered with local organizations to provide art education programs to Nashville-area communities. Through the community partners program, FAM offers enriching exhibition-based cultural experiences while simultaneously serving as a safe place for participants to develop new skills and connect with their neighbors.

2020 Young Tennessee Artists: Selections from Advanced Studio Art Programs
Online October 9, 2020–February 7, 2021
Total page views: 2,171

The Frist Art Museum’s eighth biennial Young Tennessee Artists exhibition showcased some of the finest artwork by high school students across the state. Students in Advanced Placement (AP) and International Baccalaureate (IB) studio art programs during the 2019–20 academic year were invited to submit their work to this exhibition. After reviewing more than three hundred entries from students in private and public schools, the jurors selected works by thirty-six students. This exhibition illuminates their skillful synthesis of form, technique, and content. The array and quality of work demonstrate the growing sophistication and diversity of experiences within the AP and IB studio art programs across Tennessee.

“To be able to tackle so many issues—identity, conservation, awakenings, and more—with such boldness and innovation was incredible. This exhibit very much inspired me to consider more topics from more points of view.”
—From the comment book for Rina Banerjee: Make Me A Summary of the World

“Moved to tears. Remember the fear and mess so vividly. Beautiful and breathtaking!”
